What's so special about California? California is a state located on the West Coast of the United States. It is by far the most populous U.S. state, and the third most extensive. It is home to the nation's second- and sixth-largest census statistical areas, and eight of the nation's fifty most populated cities. The capital city is Sacramento. California's diverse geography ranges from the Pacific Coast in the west, to the Sierra Nevada mountains in the east – from the Redwood–Douglas-fir forests of the northwest, to the Mojave Desert areas in the southeast. The center of the state is dominated by Central Valley, a major agricultural area. California contains both the highest and lowest points in the contiguous United States, and has the third-longest coastline of all states. Earthquakes are a common occurrence due to the state's location along the Pacific Ring of Fire: about 37,000 are recorded annually. Find out more about California now ...
