You may be wondering – Are there certain foods I should be eating during these months I’m taking chemotherapy?

That’s a question Melanie White asked her oncologist several years ago as she was about to undergo several rounds of chemo therapy. She was surprised by the answer.

About the author

Melanie White is first and foremost – a cancer survivor. She is not a doctor, a nutritionist or medical professional of any kind. She is however a reader and a researcher who has taken an active interest in health and nutrition since her Non- Hodgkin Lymphoma diagnosis several years ago. Many of the references she came across were very good but she found them to be quite long and detailed. You may not have the time, energy or the inclination to read dozens of books on nutrition and cancer fighting foods – especially right now. This eBook is a compilation of the best material she found and is intentionally short for that very reason.

For your body to overcome a deadly disease like cancer, it needs more than radiation or chemotherapy. It needs essential nutrients that help diminish the side effects of those radical treatments. It also needs those nutrients which will strengthen and sustain vital organs that are facing a time of incredible stress.

This book contains proven, time tested steps and strategies on how to use certain foods during the treatment and recovery stages of cancer. Cancer starts at the cellular level, so there is also a need to treat it at the same level. This is where good nutrition comes in.
